

From: Jeroen ten Berge
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 12/7/01 5:19am
Subject: Opinion

Hi Sir/Madam,

I would like to say that Microsoft's terror in the software industry made a lot of companies lose their businesses, therefore I support the introduction of RedHat linux in schools since that operating system can learn kids the very basics of computers, microsoft on the other hand will make the kids depend on their easy-to-use software.

This ofcourse enlarges Microsoft's dominancy.

Also the pricing of Microsoft's products is way to high considering their enormous profits, they could easily reduce prices by 75% and still make humongous profits since their sales will even enlarge by lowering the prices.

Please note that this is not just America against Microsoft, but the world against Microsoft's monopoly.

I hope you'll also take my notes in to account, if not, at least I've tried.

Best regards,
Jeroen ten Berge
Dutch resident.